I learned something new today. Hillary Morgan Ferrer is the founder of Mama Bear Apologetics. She is the chief author and editor of Mama Bear Apologetics: Empowering Your Kids to Challenge Cultural Lies and Mama Bear Apologetics Guide to Sexuality: Empowering Your Kids to Understand and Live Out Gods Design. Hillary has her masters in Biology and has been married to her husband, Dr. John D. Ferrer, for 15 years. Dont let her cook for you. Shell burn your house straight to the ground. Conventional wisdom is that developing a healthy sexuality (as well as healthy self-esteem and values) begins at an early age, and involves talking to children about sex from a young age. However, my mama bear apologetics is that the purpose of sexuality education is not to teach children about sex. Instead, it is a way of preparing children to go forth into the world to take on the challenges of adult life. John McAdams, and his team from mama bear apologetics , have been researching data on sexuality education since 1997. According to their research, if sexuality education is not age-appropriate, it often teaches children one of two things. 1) Children are expected to learn sexual information that they are uncomfortable with, such as masturbation. 2) Children are taught that sex and sexuality are somehow bad. Both of these messages are harmful. It is no wonder that 58% of sexually active adolescents do not use birth control. As I like to say, learning about sex in kindergarten is like learning to drive in the back of a car. You will learn the road maps and speed and laws at the same time. But what really matters is how you drive the car. In the case of sex education, learning the rules and laws is the least important part. What matters is that you apply your skills so you can drive safely and effectively. And what matters is that you learn to drive a car, not that you learn to drive a car. That is why I support age-appropriate sexuality education for children that starts in kindergarten before formal reading instruction begins. I think its a good way to help them feel secure about their bodies and themselves. When adults hear about sex education taking place in kindergarten, many have no frame of reference. Some may recall the topics they learned as teens and shudder at the thought of little ones learning about condoms, contraception, abortion, rape and other explicit topics.

Kinder Sex Mama

Kindergarten is great and all, but in the interest of safety, my advice is that your child should be at least in elementary school before having a little person underfoot all day. Not only is it good for the kids to have more independence, in my experience as a former teacher, children that aren't that age are much more likely to be excited about the new experience. My youngest daughter was a year old when I started teaching. I remember a kindergarten teacher (coincidentally, the same grade as my youngest daughter) who also taught an infant baby kindergarten class. My daughter would have been in that class. If you happen to find a great kindergarten, watch it closely to make sure the teachers and director are able to accommodate you and your parenting styles. Every kindergarten is different, and the staff will know that you want to provide a different experience for your child than they would get at another school. Don't be afraid to ask for recommendations! It's best to do as much as possible before you actually need to enroll your children in their first day of kindergarten. Make sure to watch your local licenses and accreditation boards for any changes or changes that need to be made to your program. If you are planning to do this before school starts, it will likely be easier to get all of the necessary paperwork and paperwork done to accommodate your new childcare. Getting all of your ducks in a row is what it's all about! Kindergarten is a big life change, so it's a natural time for you to build a relationship with your child. If you're sitting quietly with your preschooler, watch him or her to see if he or she will tell you about some feelings or behaviors. If not, ask. If yes, then you are the first person you should be talking with your preschooler about feelings, relationships and emotions. Lets start there. 5ec8ef588b
